Hey Gunther,

was about to ask authors the manuscript number and when they submitted, but this paper (attached) seems to be out of scope. It might be better if you answered this one ;)

Thanks,
C

Dear Professor Eysenbach,

We would very much like to publish our paper in your journal, but we are left with little guidance.

You have our paper since April. As far as we know, it has not even been reviewed yet.

Can we accelerate this process, please? We will revise our paper following any comments from reviewers immediately. Indeed we are eager to hear feedback.

Sincerely,

Gerseh

Dear Editor,

We have waited for months to learn the status of our paper that we submitted to the Journal of Medical Internet Research.

Is the paper accepted yet?

If we do not have an answer by the end of this week, we must withdraw our paper and submit to another journal.

Sincerely,
Labo M. Gerseh, Harrah O. Odubbee, and Engoolu K. S. Fahmoocoo

I searched the manuscript database for your name Gerseh but couldn't find any submission. Please log in at <http://www.jmir.org/author> to make sure it has actually been submitted. You also receive a confirmation email with a manuscript tracking number. Can you let me know that number? We usually make a decision within 2 months.

Excuse spelling errors, brief language, and expletives. Sent from my iPad.

We had the problem of not being able to pay up front for submission. Is it truly the case that payment is required before peer review even begins at the Journal of Medical Internet Research?

Our university grant gives us access to the money to pay publication fees only upon proof of acceptance of our work. Once our paper passes peer review and is acceptable for publication, then we get access to the money.

Yes, we have a submission fee of $90, as stated in our instructions for authors. Otherwise we would receive more submissions than we can handle.

Excuse spelling errors, brief language, and expletives. Sent from my iPad.
